So don't go buying it for yourself.

oh... WANT... drat you internets and LJ because you show me the interesting things and wake up the thing-lust.

Must share with the baking friends! (thank you for linking)

Jogging along with her ears laid back, thinking, "They're f@ckin with me, aren't they? G@dd@mn f@ckin humans, at it again. That's it. I'm gonna go puke in their shoes."

While her stripey brother says, "But it's an excellent upper-body workout!"

Actually, based on the way she was holding her tail during that, I'd say she was having fun. At least, that's the way our rather mad kitten holds her tail when she's playing, and especially when she wants us to chase her up and down the house.

As in "Uh-oh, Dervish has the Friskies again, look at that play-tail!"

Which is strange, since Calicos tend to be a bit on the flaky side.

The part where they speed up the treadmill is just mean, but I wouldn't be able to resist it either.

Thank you for posting this line: it's the middle of the night for me I'm up trying not to fall back into a nightmare. I think kittens on a treadmill may be a sovereign cure.

I might even let you borrow it sometimes. That is, if I were to happen to have one.

Oh, she's not so bad. That space alien in the cape has turned her head, is all.

When I decided to be born in February, I must not have realized I'd own a motorcycle. Winter storms play hell with...

Is this conversation grounds for workplace harassment? Not my half of it, of course.

I hope you don't mind, but I intend to friend you here on LJ simply because of this video (laughed so hard tears came to my eyes) and the caption.
